About The MINT Film Festival

In just under a year since its inception, the Made IN Toronto (MINT) Film Festival has quickly gained a reputation as a strong advocate and promoter of locally made social and environmental issue documentaries as well as Toronto musicians and artists. MINT's mandate is to bring members of the community together with Toronto filmmakers, musicians and artists to explore topics of urgency, topical interest, and environmental concerns through special documentary film screenings. Each event begins with a live music performance and concludes with audience participation in discussion with the filmmakers, directors, and subject experts.

For every MINT ticket purchased, 10% of the sales price goes into a fund to support local filmmakers, musicians and artists. This money is distributed in the form of bursaries and grants to those filmmakers and artists who are making the greatest positive impact to the community with their work.
